

LATIN AMERICAN AND LATINX STUDIES MINOR

The Latin American and Latinx Studies (LALS) Program provides a multidisciplinary education on key issues and dynamics in Latin America and Latinx communities in the United States and prepares students for work and future study in an array of fields, including business, government and diplomacy, education, health care, journalism and communications, private and public development organizations and non-profits. It also offers an array of relevant programming on campus and promotes experiential learning in and related to the region.

The Minor in Latin American and Latinx Studies (LALS) equips students with multiple frameworks for understanding and analyzing significant realities in Latin America and Latinx communities. Students explore perspectives and approaches from within the region and among peoples of Latin American origins in the U.S., including those expressed in the primary languages of Latin America. By selecting courses most relevant to their primary areas of study, students prepare themselves for professional opportunities in or related to Latin America and Latinx communities.

Faculty Director

- Dr. Heather Hennes (Modern and Classical Languages)

Latin American and Latinx Studies Advisory Board

- Fr. Peter Clark (Theology and Religious Studies)
- Dr. Richard Gioioso (Political Science)
- Dr. Claudia Pérez-Lotero (Modern and Classical Languages)
- Dr. Michelle Ramírez (Sociology)
- Dr. Elaine Shenk (Modern and Classical Languages)
- Dr. Richard Warren (History)

Learning Goals and Outcomes

Goal 1: be knowledgeable about the history, cultures, economic, business, political and/or social trends of Latin America and/or Latinx communities in the United States.

Objective 1.1: describe accurately and with substantive detail some aspect of the history, cultures, economic, business, political and/or social trends of Latin America and/or Latinx communities.

Goal 2: develop modes of analysis and ways of critical thinking about Latin America and/or Latinx communities through multiple lenses (e.g., artistic, business, economic, historical, literary, political, sociological).

Objective 2.1: apply appropriate, discipline-specific theoretical and/or analytical frameworks to interpret ideas and beliefs, events, practices, texts (broadly conceived), and/or material culture from Latin America and/or among Latinx communities.

Requirements

Students complete the Minor in Latin American and Latinx Studies (LALS) with six courses. To ensure the interdisciplinary focus of the minor, courses from at least three participating departments must be represented among the six courses. Students may petition the LALS Program Director to receive credit for courses not listed below, such as courses taken abroad. Students participating in a study abroad or a study tour to Latin America are encouraged to ask the LALS Program Director about financial support for travel.

Please note: Students may count a maximum of two of the following courses towards the Minor in Latin American and Latinx Studies: SPA 201 SPA 202, SPA 301, SPA 302, SPA 303. Students studying another language of the region (French, Portuguese) can request that comparable courses count toward the LALS minor.
