MODERN AND CLASSICAL LANGUAGES

Mission

In an increasingly interdependent world community, the mission of the Department of Modern and Classical Language is to help students become articulate, knowledgeable and culturally aware, in accordance with the values and traditions of Saint Joseph’s University and the Society of Jesus. We pursue this mission by:

- Fostering language proficiency
- Promoting an appreciation for the richness and complexity of language
- Deepening students’ understanding of cultural diversity
- Encouraging student engagement in active, collaborative and critical learning
- Emphasizing a learner-centered pedagogy and care for the individual

Upper Division Courses Taken in Study Abroad Programs

The Department will count a maximum of four upper division courses toward the major. This represents half of the upper division courses required. A total of three courses taken abroad may count for the minor.

Other Related Programs

In addition to the Spanish major and minor, a minor in Latin American Studies is also available. See the Latin American Studies Program website at: www.sju.edu/int/academics/cas/latinamerstudies.

A student may wish to consider a major/minor in Linguistics or TESOL. See the Advisor for Linguistics and TESOL Minors, Dr. Jennifer Ewald, for more information and visit the Linguistics Program website at: http://www.sju.edu/academics/cas/linguistics/index.html.

Modern Languages/Secondary Education Double Major

The Modern Languages/Secondary Education Double Major requires a course in culture and civilization in the modern language, as well as a course in basic or applied linguistics. The three Integrative Learning Courses for the Education Track are as follows: SPE 160/160F Introduction to Special Education; SPE 310/310F Assessment: Identification and Progress Monitoring, and SPE 203/203F: Teaching in Inclusive Environments. The following are recommended for satisfying both Education and GEP requirements: first-year EDU 150/150F Schools in Society of Jesus, EDU 157/157F Adolescent Development, and a Modern Languages advisor will also assist students seeking teacher certification in formally applying for the teacher certification program, usually in the spring semester of their sophomore year. Students must have an overall GPA of 3.0 or higher to enroll in EDU 497 Secondary Student Teaching in their senior year. Students must maintain an overall GPA of 3.0 or higher to obtain teacher certification upon graduation.

Completion of GEP non-native language requirement

Most students fulfill their GEP non-native language requirement by taking a two-semester course sequence (101-102, 102-201, 201-202, 202-301) in the following languages: American Sign Language, Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Russian and Spanish. Students placed in 301 (Conversation) are only required to take one semester of a non-native language.

English as a Second Language

All international students whose primary language is not English or who have English language deficiencies ought to take ESL 201 and ESL 202, Composition and Critical Thinking for Non-Native Speakers of English, in their first two semesters. ESL 201 and ESL 202 will satisfy the GEP non-native language requirement for students whose native language is not English.

Non-Native Language Courses outside the University

Students wishing to study a non-native language to fulfill the General Education Program requirements on either the introductory or intermediate level not offered at Saint Joseph's University may be permitted to pursue such study at a four-year college or university of their choice. Permission will come from the appropriate academic Dean with the approval of the chair of the Department of Modern and Classical Languages.

In such cases, the student will pay Saint Joseph’s University full tuition. In addition, the student will pay the tuition for the course taken elsewhere. When the student earns a C or above in the course(s) taken elsewhere, and all the course credits transfer back to SJU, Saint Joseph’s University will reimburse the student’s tuition for the course taken elsewhere up to but not exceeding the amount of one fifth of the student’s semester tuition (excluding fees). If there is a tuition charge above this amount where the courses are being taken, the student will be responsible for the remaining charges.

If a student wishes to take language courses at other institutions beyond those which are required for the GEP, they may do so by following the pre-approved instructions for students taking courses elsewhere, but tuition costs for such courses will not be reimbursed by the University.

ITA 420 From Novel to Film (3 credits)
This course studies representations of Italian society from unification (1860) to the present in literary works and films. We shall consider films by contemporary Italian filmmakers (Visconti, Damiani, Rossi, Fratelli, Taviani), and the literary works on which they are based, including works by D'Annunzio, Pirandello, Levi, and Sciascia. While comparing cinematographic and literary techniques, we shall explore ideological and cultural currents, such as Romanticism, Risorgimento, Realism and Neo-realism. Topics discussed will include: the problems of unification; regionalism and separatism between industrial north and rural south; solitude and marginalization; the search for an identity. Conducted in Italian. Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement.
Prerequisites: Language Placement with a score of IT420 or ITA 301
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

ITA 425 Art&Madman:Renaissance&Reform (3 credits)
What separates genius from madness? Is creativity inspiration or insanity? This interdisciplinary course examines tales of psychosis, violence and the making of artistic masterpieces. We will explore the lives and works of artists and poets, such as Sandro Botticelli, Leonardo Da Vinci, Michelangelo Buonarotti, Vittoria Colonna, Benvenuto Cellini, Galileo Galilei, Caravaggio and Artemisia Gentileschi. A variety of works [poetry, prose, painting and sculpture] will be studied against the backdrop of the crisis of the Italian Renaissance. We will look closely at Counterreformation intellectual debates, religious dissent and persecution. At the center of our inquiry is the figure of the artist—genius, madman, or both? This course will be complemented by guest speakers and a trip to the Philadelphia Museum of Art. Conducted in Italian. Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement.
Prerequisites: ITA 301 or Language Placement with a score of IT425
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature

ITA 430 Images of Rome:Papal Rome - Pres (3 credits)
This course will interpret the symbolic and political importance of Rome in literary works and film. The course is organized historically: from the struggle over Rome within the Risorgimento movement to fascist and war-torn Rome; from the 50's Rome of reconstruction to the economic boom of the 1960's; to the socio-political problems of a new multicultural city in the 80's and 90's. Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

ITA 440 Profane and Sacred Love (3 credits)
The course aspires to provide an understanding of the culture of Medieval and Renaissance Italy and of its influence on contemporary Italian culture. It focuses on how power and gender relationships are reflected in the literature—canzoni, sonetti, ballate, novelle. The works studied belong to the tradition of Courtly Love, Neo-Platonic love and the literature of the Renaissance courtesans and follows the evolution of concepts of sacred and profane love in Italian literature from the thirteenth to the sixteenth centuries. The course considers a variety of subtexts and interdisciplinary relationships especially with history and art history. Audio-visual materials (videos, movies, cd roms) will be used to bring home to the students the sights and sounds of this vibrant age. Conducted in Italian. Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement.
Prerequisites: Language Placement with a score of IT440 or ITA 301
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

ITA 445 The Medici Court (3 credits)
For the Medici, art and propaganda went hand in hand. This interdisciplinary course investigates the city and family that nurtured artists and humanists [including Brunelleschi, Fra Angelico, Donatello, Botticelli, Poliziano and Michelangelo]. Tracing the rise and fall of the dynasty, we will consider how the Medici fashioned an enduring image of princely power though architecture and music. We will study a variety of texts, including painting, sculpture, poetry and intimate letters exchanged between family members. This course will be complemented by visiting the Medici Collection at the Philadelphia Museum of Art. Conducted in Italian. Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement.
Prerequisites: Language Placement with a score of IT445 or ITA 301
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

ITA 450 Italy in Age of Grand Tour (3 credits)
This course focuses on travel through Italy as an educational experience and cultural initiation and aims to improve students' reading, writing and speaking skills in Italian, while familiarizing them with culturally important sites and encouraging them to think critically about the notion of the Grand Tour. Conducted in Italian. Pre-requisite: ITA 301 or permission of instructor.
Prerequisites: Language Placement with a score of IT450 or ITA 301
Attributes: Undergraduate
ITA 455 Women’s Voices (3 credits)
We will investigate the relation between the emergence of a self-proessed woman novelist and the changing ideologies concerning the moral and intellectual nature of women and their role in society. We will not only study the way prominent women intellectuals helped shape the debate on women’s condition and on women’s writing, but also their original contribution to the interpretation of twentieth century history (e.g. Fascism, the Resistance, the Second World War and the Holocaust).
Among the literary theoretical issues we will encounter: the relationship of genre to gender, of gender to writing, and the role of gender values in historiographical representation. We shall read autobiographical and historical novels, as well as essays and non-fictional prose. The course will be complemented by a film and a lecture series. Conducted in Italian. Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement.
Prerequisites: Language Placement with a score of IT455 or ITA 301
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

ITA 460 Dante, Petrarch, Boccaccio (3 credits)
This course explores intersections between the lives and the major works of the three “crows” of Italian literature: Dante Alighieri [1265-1321], Francesco Petrarcha [1304-1374] and Giovanni Boccaccio [1313-1375]. By reading selections from Dante’s Commedia, Petrarch’s Canzoniere and Boccaccio’s Decameron, the course aims to contextualize and interpret the literary masterpieces that marked the end of the Middle Ages and the beginning of the Renaissance. We will touch on the social world in which the three crowns lived, highlighting the authors’ conceptions of politics, theology, philosophy and the visual arts. Throughout the course, particular attention will be granted to the rivalries, friendships and collaborations that unite the three crowns of Florence. Conducted in Italian. Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement.
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

ITA 465 Birth of a Nation:Risorgimento (3 credits)
This course encourages a critical approach to the study of Italian unification in its aesthetic, cultural, and political dimensions as well as their repercussions on present-day Italian society and culture. The making of Italians, as Massimo D’Azeglio famously put it, would engage the best Italian minds for the following 150 years. The divisions between North and South, between Church and State, between the government and the people were created or compounded by the making of Italy. The course studies the debate on Italian Unification and the development of an Italian identity in a variety of historical artistic and literary sources, including diaries, letters, treatises, paintings, sculptures, poems and short stories.

ITA 470 Topics in Italian (3 credits)
The purpose of this course is to explore specific topics within the literatures and/or cultures of the Italian-speaking world. Topics will vary according to the semester in which the class is offered; check the semester listing for current topic. Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement.

IST 150 Ital Cinema-Neoreal to Present (3 credits)
This course investigates major Italian films as both aesthetic and cultural objects. It offers an introduction to Italian cinema from the 1940’s to the Present, and also to Italian social and cultural history of that time. It introduces major directors, movements, and genres in Italian cinema, focusing on movies that not only are influential masterpieces, but also offer incisive interpretations of their cultural and social milieus, including regional, ethnic and religious diversity; gender diversity; social tensions and class issues. Visconti, De Sica, Fellini, Scola, Belloccchio, Giordana are among the directors we study.
Attributes: First-Year Seminar, GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

IST 350 Mangia! Flavors of Italy (3 credits)
The expression “Mangia, mangia!” is commonly associated with American stereotypes of Italians. But is the perceived Italian love of food the same in the United States and in Italy? Is it an issue of quantity or quality? Of socio-economics, politics, or education? Is it global, local or both? In this interdisciplinary course, we will explore the role of food in Italian culture and in the shaping of Italian identity, in Italy and abroad. We will trace its evolution through a variety of texts: literature, works of art, music, and film, as well as family recipes. Guest lectures made by Italian chefs in Philadelphia, food tastings, and a visit to the Italian Market, will enrich the course. Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement.

SPA 352 ModerntoPostModCityinSpCulture (3 credits)
Cities are the stage of social and political changes at the same time that these events transform the urban space. On occasion, alterations are sudden and traumatic such as the devastation and reconstruction after a war. However, transformations are most often caused by economic and social factors which are subtle and happen over a long period of time. For these reasons, the city has captured the imagination of writers and filmmakers alike. This course examines representations of Spanish cities from the nineteenth to the early twenty-first century. The course will be divided into three periods in which Spanish society and its main cities underwent important changes. The first analyzes the incipient modernization of the society during the second half of the nineteenth century and early twentieth century. The second focuses on the years after the Civil War, examining the socioeconomic hardships of the 40s and 50s, the reconstruction of the urban space, and the rural immigration to Madrid. Finally, the third period signals the incorporation of Spanish society into the global world during the last thirty years.
Prerequisites: SPA 302 or SPA 303
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate
SPA 353 Latin American Cinema (3 credits)
This course examines some of the historical debates and social issues of Latin America in the twentieth and twenty first centuries through some of its more relevant films. The course covers different historical periods and nations (Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Cuba, Guatemala, and Mexico) to offer a general understanding of these Latin American countries' history and culture. También la lluvia, is a metafiction that depicts the Spanish colonization critically to present how the economic exploitation from the West still affects today indigenous communities in Bolivia. The economic and urban growth of Mexico City, one of the topics of Los olvidados and Amores perros, is the second area of study. We will analyze how Mexico's capital developed from a city to a metropolis and how this affected its economy and society. Rio de Janeiro and its favelas, portrayed in City of God, depicts a divided city between the touristic Zona Sul and the favelas in the North and West, which is an example of Brazil's uneven modernization. The course also examines political issues, such as the dictatorships in Argentina and Chile, the Cuban revolution, and Fidel Castro's regime. These events will be analyzed from political and historical perspectives as portrayed in film. During the final weeks we will analyze current social problems in Central America and how they are pushing people to migrate to the US.
Prerequisites: SPA 302 or SPA 303
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Latin American Studies Course, Non-Western Studies (GEP)

SPA 355 Río de la Plata: Study Tour (3 credits)
This course is a study tour of different geographical points of the Southern Cone region (South America): Montevideo, Colonia and Punta del Este (Uruguay), Buenos Aires and Iguazú Falls (Argentina). The aim of the course is to improve students' knowledge of Latin American socio-political, historical and cultural reality--of the Southern Cone region, in particular--through the study of the history, geography and sociology of the region, as well as through the study of its literature, music, painting, and other artistic manifestations. Lectures, visits to museums and cultural sites, films, and meetings with local personalities will be part of our activities. Students will be able to focus on a field of interest in their research papers, sharing their findings with the class in oral presentations. Lectures, readings, journals, discussions, oral presentations, exams and papers will be in Spanish. This course counts toward a minor or major in Spanish, or it can be used as an elective course. Prerequisite: Fulfills the Art/Lit requirement. Latin American Studies.
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

SPA 356 Spain: Study Tour (3 credits)
Spain is one of the most dynamic countries in Europe today. It's a mixture of the old and new. Some of the major influences of the ancient and contemporary worlds will be studied through history, literature, film, art, architecture, regional languages, politics, economic development and music. The highlight of the course is the experience in Spain itself. Students may not count both 351 and 356 for credit toward a Spanish major or minor. Both may be taken but only one may count for major/minor credit. The other may count for elective credit. Fulfills the Art/Lit requirement.
Prerequisites: SPA 301 or SPA 303

SPA 360 Spanish in the Community (4 credits)
This service-learning course focuses on cultural, social, historical, linguistic, and political issues relevant to Latin communities in Philadelphia. The course is designed to promote solidarity with Latinos, learn about cultural norms and values, reflect on issues of social justice prevalent in these communities, and develop oral and written proficiency in Spanish. Class materials include both written and community texts, presentations, film and news media. Active participation in both the community and the classroom are key components of the course. In addition to classes on campus, each student will carry out three hours per week of work at a designated service placement site in a Latin community in or near Philadelphia. This class focuses on learning how to "read the texts" of your service experience, how to read the texts of concepts and theories and how to make connections between the two. This is a Service Learning course. Latin American Studies.

SPA 421 Shrt Mod Latn Am Novel & Film (3 credits)
Analyzing these "novelas" we study the (re)construction of national identity through the modern literary discourse in particular, and the question of the development of Latin American identities, in general. Goals: throughout our literature readings and analysis we intend to answer questions such as how do these narrative texts articulate a discourse of Latin American identity; how is Latin America culturally different; what makes it culturally "the other" in relation to Occidental hegemonic cultures; should we talk about Latin American identity or/and regional/national identities. Ways of approaching the identity questions may be: studying technical innovations that disarticulate the traditional realistic discourse of the novel of XIX century; seeing the ways these texts re-textualize the social history of Latin-America, like for example the testimonial novel; studying some examples of magical realism and the fantastic as forms of constructing/textualizing our identities; mapping Latin American region, cities/country; studying the ways that Latin American people are constructed in this narrative, as well as their cultures, reaching the political, ideological, social subtexts of these novels. Possible authors: Gómez de Avellaneda, Bombal, Onetti, R. Castellanos, E. Garro, Sábato, Fuentes, Vargas Llosa, Carpentier, García Márquez, Ruffo, Benedetti, M. Traba, Peri Rossi, Cortázar, Galeano, T. Mercado, Giardinelli, A. Gorodischer, L. Heker, S. Molloy, G. Gambaro, I. Verolín, among others. Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement. Latin American Studies.

SPA 422 Cult, Dictshp & Exile: 1973-85 (3 credits)
In this course we study different aesthetic discourses of the dictatorships between between 1973 and 1985, in the Latin American Southern Cone. According to the theories of Jameson and Terdiman, among others, we consider these discourses as an arena of social and ideological struggle. We will elucidate the ways in which these cultural texts register and articulate that struggle in relation to the social and political situation of the region. In addition, we will consider the different ways social imaginary is refracted in those aesthetic products, reconstructing the ideologies within their subtexts. Some of the following cultural expressions of the period are selected to be studied in this course: Movies/Videos: Un lugar en el mundo, Los ojos de los pájaros, Missing, La historia oficial (The Official History), La noche de los lápices, Death and the Maiden, School of Assassins, Machuca. Literary Texts: narrative by Partnoy, Galeano, Traba, Benedetti, Valenzuela, Dorfman; poetry by Benedetti, Rosencof, Gelman, La canción de los presos (Anonymous). Lyrics: by D. Viglietti, M. Sosa, V. Jara, L. Gieco, Sting, among others.Fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement. Latin American Studies.

In this course students will become familiar with three main milestones of Latin American history and culture in the 20th century: the Mexican, Cuban and Nicaraguan Revolutions. Beginning with a discussion of the concept of "revolution" and a brief historical introduction to these periods, we will focus specifically on the cultural policies of the new regimes, with particular emphasis on the literacy campaigns derived from those policies. Students will also become familiar with the different cultural manifestations of those periods, including literature, visual arts, and popular music. This course fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement. Latin American Studies.
Prerequisites: (SPA 302 or SPA 303) and (SPA 310 or SPA 350 or SPA 355)
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

SPA 427 Iden & Power in Am:1350-1650 (3 credits)
In this interdisciplinary course, students will use both primary and secondary sources to examine the construction of identities and the relations between different kinds of power—for example, military, social, political—among three distinct peoples who built imperial states in the Americas: the Aztec, the Inca, and the Spanish. The first part of the course will address each of these three cultures in the era leading up to the Spanish exploration and conquest of the Americas. In the second part of the course, students will analyze changes in the construction of identity and power wrought by European-indigenous contact. This course fulfills the GEP Art/Lit requirement. Latin American Studies.
Attributes: GEP Art/Literature, Undergraduate

SPA 431 Commonplaces of Colonial Exp (3 credits)
In this course students think about how various spaces became places through human experience in Colonial Spanish America. They engage in reflective discussion about the physical conditions, value systems, beliefs and politics that created such places and, in some cases, have changed their meaning over time. They explore the dynamics of spaces endowed with different values by different peoples at different times. Through these discussions students think about some commonplaces of colonial experience, as well as the experience of colonial legacies and colonial places in the 21st century. Prerequisites: SPA 302 or 303 and at least one other SPA course at the 300 or 400 level. It would be helpful though not required that the student have some kind of introduction to Latin America prior to or concurrent with this course. We will also discuss the relationship between language and dialect, examine the role of the standard language in both written and oral usage, and identify the factors that have contributed to the diversity of the Spanish language. This course also counts for the Linguistics major/minor and for Latin American and Latinx Studies.
Prerequisites: SPA 302 or SPA 303 or Language Placement with a score of 20
Attributes: Latin American Studies Course, Undergraduate

SPA 466 Spanish Dialectology (3 credits)
This course will examine the evolution of comics (usually referred to as "tebeos") in Spain since the Spanish Civil War (1936-1939) to the present. During Francisco Franco's dictatorship, this genre was heavily influenced by the Fascist ideology of the government. On the one hand, some editors sympathized with the government and used their publications to spread an ultra-conservative ideology. This is the case of the publication Mis chicas by Consuelo Gil, the only "tebeo" addressed to a female audience. On the other hand, some artists circumvented censorship by drawing harmless comical stories that, in fact, were a critical portrayal of the miseries of the post-war era. After Franco's death in 1975, comics were free of censorship and became a space of transgression to express the political, religious, and sexual liberation of the late 1970s and early 1980s. This genre became very popular during "La movida madrileña", a hedonistic countercultural movement. In the early 2000s, graphic novels became more accepted by the public and received a deserved recognition by critics. In the second part of the semester, we will analyze graphic novels that deal social and political issues within an ethical framework.
Prerequisites: (SPA 302 and PHL 154) and (SPA 311 or SPA 351 or SPA 356)
Attributes: Ethics Intensive (New GEP), Undergraduate

SPA 467 Lang Contact & Pol in U.S. (3 credits)
This course is designed to engage students in a review critical analysis of the history and politics of language contact within the context of the United States. Given the demographic shifts in population taking place currently in the U.S., the course will focus primarily on the contact between Spanish and English. We will discuss bilingualism and the characteristics of language contact, language ideologies, language planning and policy, Official English movements, and bilingual education. We will examine the language of hegemony used to maintain the dominance of English vis-a-vis Spanish (and other languages) present in our society. We will also do some comparative study connecting this reality to what is happening with Spanish in other situations of language contact. This course also counts for the Linguistics major/minor and for Latin American and Latinx Studies Satisfies Diversity requirement.
Prerequisites: SPA 302 or SPA 303
Attributes: Diversity Course (New GEP), Latin American Studies Course, Undergraduate
